

PANORAMA OF COLOUR

Last Sunday the church garden welcomed those coming to the Sunday morning service with a panorama of colour :

- three Rose of Sharon in flower,
- the white Japanese anemone growing beside one of them and climbing up through the lilac
- Yellow and purple brown-eyed susans all over
- And the bed of red bee balm still in flower

AND MORE . . .

- Below left – Nodding onions in flower
- Centre : Milkweed for the butterflyes
- Right - Help please! – not sure what this is, the yellow shrub beside the still pink spirea

AND EVEN FROM INSIDE THE CHURCH

- Rose of Sharon clearly visible from the stairs
- Colourful annuals in the raised vegetable bed

VEGETABLE BEDS - - FOOD FOR THE “FREE PANTRY”

The veggies are thriving ! Thanks to Andy, who took the initiative to get them planted, and Britta who regularly waters them, we have succesful Okra and cucumbers

In the left picture, Sally and Britta are inspecting the okra, and on the right, first two of several cucumbers donated to the church’s “Free Pantry”
